PRESIDENT JOHNSON, in his dispatch to the Attorney General of Louisiana, says: "The people must be first consulted in changing the organic law of the State. Usurpation will not be tolerated."

If we recollect aright, this same President, without the slightest authority of law, dictated most important changes in the Constitution of ten different States, in not one of which did he allow the demanded changes to be submitted to the people. Does he mean to plead guilty to the charge of usurpation?

THE public have seen how the Conservatives managed what they called the [illegible] in New Orleans. It is not uncharitable to infer that the Conservatives design to administer the same discipline to the assembly they call the "Rump Congress" at Washington. In the New Orleans massacre the President was on the side of the cut-throats. There are indications that he intends to be on the same side at the National Capital.

GOV. MURPHY writes to Washington, that the President's Policy has ruined the Union cause in Arkansas. The same statement reaches us through private sources, entitled to the highest credit. From the nature of the case, this cannot be otherwise. The President's Policy opens before the rebel leaders the prospect of recovering all they lost by their assault upon the Government.

A RIVAL to President Johnson and Parson Brownlow in blackguardism has appeared in the person of Gen. J. T. Hindman, who thus speaks of "Hangman" Foote: "His own are the only hands vile enough to end his existence, and the maw of the carrion crow is his natural place of sepulture."

THE New York Express asks:

"What would the Republican editors do if Vallandigham and the Woods should die?"

They would next pray that the Brookses might have sense enough to follow the excellent example.

THE Union State Convention for New York will be held at Syracuse on the 5th day of September next. Candidates for Governor, Lieutenant Governor, Canal Commissioner, and Inspector of State Prisons will be nominated.

THE President has made the following appointments for the Territory of Dacotah: Governor—Andrew J. Foulk, of Pennsylvania, vice Edmunds; Associate Justice—John W. Boyle; Receiver in Land Office—George Stickney.

IT seems probable that Gen. John A. LOGAN will be nominated in Illinois for Congressman at Large.

Pulmonary Consumption.

Properly speaking, and as it is generally understood, is a disease of the substance of the lungs, and may either be in a latent or developed state—latent when there are tubercles in the lungs which have not as yet taken on suppurative action, when there is no or very little cough and no spitting of matter or pus. In fact, matter will not be raised until the tubercle becomes inflamed, breaks, and then the process of suppuration goes on, and you have consumption in a developed state, or, in other words, true pulmonary consumption or consumption of the lungs. There may be disease of either the trachea, bronchia, larynx or pharynx, in which those organs throw off an excessive quantity of mucous pus or starch-like substances, and it is to this form of the diseases above named that the term consumption has been given. It has been called bronchial consumption: or bronchitis, when the bronchia alone is affected, and it likewise is named tracheal, or laryngeal consumption, when the trachea or larynx are affected. So much for the description. Now for the cure. Each and every one of these diseases are curable, when taken in the early stages—as curable as any other disease, and as fatal as any other, when allowed to run for a long time, without a remedy; but I am not sure that they are more fatal than most other diseases, when those other diseases are allowed to take their course. I have cured most of these diseases hundreds of times by my PECTORAL SYRUP, without any other remedy. Hundreds of living witnesses, in and around Pittsburgh, have given their testimony to the fact, and among them are some of the most respectable citizens, who, it is not likely could be imposed upon. The PECTORAL SYRUP is not an "expectorant", merely. It is more. It is a healing, soothing, lung medicine; infallible in the early stages, and often curing in advanced stages of lung maladies. I have made it and used it in my practice for more than twenty years, and I have yet to discover a remedy superior to it, in the early stages of lung and bronchial disease. In advanced stages, like everything else, it sometimes fails. In weakened and broken-down states of the system, I do not trust to PECTORAL SYRUP, or any single remedy. I then try to meet the conditions present: and if there be vigor of constitution enough left, I have confidence to believe I will succeed in curing what is usually deemed an incurable disease. Sold at 140 Wood street. Dr. Keyser's office, 120 Penn street.

DR. HOSTETTER—Sir: I have long delayed writing to you my sincere thanks for the good you have done my daughter. I can truly say that nothing but the kind hand of Providence and your BITTERS have saved her from an early grave. For three years I have been doctoring her with syrups and all kinds of bitters that have been recommended to me for her, besides having two first rate physicians; but all seemed to do her no good, while I was searching the almanacs and all the newspapers that I could get hold of, in hopes of finding something that would suit her case. Accidentally there came part of a newspaper around some goods that I bought at the Spa. In looking it over I saw at a glance that your BITTERS was just what she needed. I sent the next day to Ballston Spa and got a bottle of your BITTERS. She commenced taking them, and such a change in one week with her appetite, and the distress that victuals occasioned, and that burning in the Stomach, I never saw in my life as there was in her. She has taken three bottles, and is now able to work all the time. I think there is a little derangement of the Liver. Please send me three bottles more, which I think will cure her entirely. We and others thought she had disease of the heart, but that beating and fluttering that would almost stop her from breathing at times, is all gone. Yours, with respect,

MRS. AMANDA MCPHERSON.

THE UNIVERSAL EXPOSITION.

Legation of France to the United States.

PREPARATIONS FOR THE EVENT CONTINUE.

The Time Unalterably Fixed.

WASHINGTON, August 7.—To the Secretary of State: The grave events which are passing in Europe may have caused a fear that the Universal Exposition of 1867 would be retarded in France. Public notices in the Moniteur have reassured the opinion. No relaxation has been manifested in the labors of the Committee on Admission. The exhibitors continue their preparations, and the buildings on the Champ De Mars are carried on with activity. In a word, everything induces the anticipation that the Exposition will be completed and ready by the first of April, 1867. It would be regretable that if in foreign countries there should exist any uncertainty as to the time of the exposition, and that in consequence preparatory measures should be suspended. So the Minister of State, Vice President of the Imperial Commission, has lately expressed to the Minister of foreign affairs of the Emperor, the wish that the various States that are to participate in this solemnity may be informed of the intentions of the government of the Emperor. Until now, however, no lack of persistence has occurred to the Imperial Commission, even on the part of the governments engaged in the war. Mr. Rouher adds that in case some country should find itself prevented from assisting, the Imperial Commission could not for that cause adjourn the opening of the Exhibition, because one of the first duties is to protect the interests of the subscribers to the capital guaranteed, those of the French exhibitors who have imposed sacrifices on themselves in view of the meeting of 1867; those, in fine, of the adventurers who have made considerable appropriations for the continuance of the works begun. I am, in consequence, instructed, Mr. Secretary of State, to make known to your Excellency that the inauguration of the Exposition at Paris continues to be unalterably fixed for the first of April next, and express to you, at the same time, the interest with which the Government of the Emperor will attach to having this notice made known, not merely to the Central Committee, but also to the exhibitors who may reside in the United States.

Secretary of the Treasury Prevailed Upon to Sell the Coin Not Needed to Meet Interest on the Public Debt—Bone of Contention in the Dental Convention—Prussia Wants the Treasure Carried off by the King of Hanover—A Mexican Sensation.

NEW YORK, August 7.—Messrs. Brown Bros., and thirty three other firms, mostly branches of European houses, unite in a public letter to Secretary McCulloch, calling upon him to sell all the coin in the Treasury not needed to meet the interest on the public debt, on the ground that it would facilitate trade.

The Evening Post opposes the suggestion, as calculated to benefit foreign markets rather than our own.

The following is the resolution which proved such a bone of contention in the dental convention at Boston, Monday: "Resolved, That this association is happy to see and hear Maj. Gen. Butler, and it also wishes he had command at New Orleans one week ago."

The Prussian Government has made a demand upon the English Government for the treasure packed up and carried off by the King of Hanover and his suite in their flight, and deposited by them with the bank of England, asserting that she will seize and retain the Hanoverians if not given up. The amount of coin was one million two hundred and fifty thousand thalers.

The Patrie announces that a Mexican army, fifty thousand strong, recruited among the Mexicans and officered by Europeans, will take the place of the French army, and they will maintain Maximilian on the throne.

The Municipal Council of Vienna has presented a petition to the Emperor, reaffirming their loyalty, but seriously urging upon him certain reforms in his military and civil affairs. They say, also, momentous as the period, the representatives of Vienna will not dwell upon all the causes which have brought about the present deeply serious position of the empire. To one cause, however, they must all agree. It is that this position has been, not so much occasioned by recent reverses in the field, as by the unfortunate policy which the advisers of the Crown have pursued, both at home and abroad for a long series of years.

He also says numbers of outrages have been perpetrated upon Americen citizens in Venezula, many of whom have been murdered without our government taking any cognizance of the matter.

NEW ORLEANS RIOTS.

Statement of the Lieut. Governor and Attorney General of the State, and Mayor of the City.

NEW ORLEANS, Aug 7.—His Excellency, President Andrew Johnson, Sir:—Your Excellency is already in possession of the main facts as regards the conspiracy which, by reviving the Convention of 1864, purposed to subvert the civil government of Louisiana. An informal meeting of twenty-nine members, one hundred and fifty being the whole number, and seventy-six a quorum, proceeded to depose the President of the Convention, who considered the Convention itself extinct. They elected R. K. Howell as President pro tem., adjourned to meet again, and a proclamation was issued by the President pro tem. convening the Convention on the 30th of July last, and directing His Excellency, the Governor of the State, to issue writs of election to fill vacancies. So far the whole matter was looked upon as a harmless experiment, although mischievously intended, people being confident that the Governor would not condescend to notice this proclamation, and that in case the Convention would commit any act of interference, he would at once have it dispersed. Unfortunately, however, after the lapse of nearly a month, the Governor issued writs of election to fill up fifty-one vacancies in that body. This document, to which the Secretary of State refused to give his attestation, under the seal of State, was issued under the attestation of the Private Secretary of the Governor. The people of the State became alarmed, when no doubt could be entertained as to the fact that their chief magistrate had given willing aid and assistance to subvert the Government, the preservation of which was especially entrusted to his keeping.

On Friday, the 27th of July, a large meeting was held in the hall of the House of Representatives, professedly for advocacy of universal suffrage, but in reality to organize for the meeting of the Convention on the Monday following. The object of the meeting was to excite the passions and prejudices of the colored people so as to make them the victims of a riot by urging them headlong into a conflict with the State and municipal authorities.

On the other hand, we were determined to prevent riot and bloodshed by pursuing such a course as would baffle the nefarious calculations of those agitators. Our remedy, and the only remedy, must be by recourse to the usual process of law, and even then to proceed in such a way as to fasten upon them the responsibilities of all collision whatever. The case was submitted to the grand jury by the Attorney General, and in the meantime the Lieutenant Governor and the Mayor called upon General Baird to ascertain whether if a warrant issued upon a regular indictment was placed in the hands of the Sheriff for the arrest of the members of the Convention, the military would interfere. The answer was that the Sheriff himself would be arrested, and that the Convention, meeting peaceably, could not be interfered with by the officers of the law.

It is proper here to state that the Mayor had previously addressed a note to General Baird inquiring whether he would be interfered with by the military in case he would proceed to disperse the Convention as an unlawful assemblage. The answer to this communication was that the meeting of the Convention, being peaceable, could not be suppressed by the Mayor, and that the military authorities would prevent the interference of the civil authorities. It was suggested by the Lieutenant Governor that the city authorities, under these circumstances, did not intend to interfere to prevent the meeting of the Convention, but proposed that in case a warrant of arrest were placed in the hands of the Sheriff, the latter, before attempting to execute it, would call upon the General, who, thereupon, would endorse his objections, and the matter would at once be submitted to the President. This arrangement was satisfactory to both parties.

On the same day the Attorney General and the Lieut. Governor telegraphed to the President to ascertain whether the process of Court for the arrest of the members of the Convention could be thwarted by the military. The answer was received to sustain the Courts. On Sunday 29th, the State and municipal authorities called upon the press to advise the people as to the proper conduct to be pursued next day, so as to avoid all collision and riot, and the Mayor issued his proclamation to the same effect.

The press of the city, with the exception of the Radical organ, gave wise and salutary counsel to the public, inviting all good citizens to avoid congregating about the capital and to demean themselves with prudence and discretion.

On the morning of the 30th, the Lieutenant Governor called upon General Baird, to communicate to him the President's dispatch, and also inquired of the General if he would not have some troops in the vicinity of the hall to preserve peace and good order. General Baird answered that applications had been made by members of the Convention. The suggestion was then made that to have too large a police force on the spot might be construed as meant to overawe the members, and that inasmuch as the civil authorities did not intend interfering with the Convention until instructions were received from the President, as above agreed on, it was proper to have troops to co-operate with a police force to preserve peace and prevent all possible attempt to bring about a collision. This suggestion met the approval of the General, who then stated that he would give immediate orders to have the troops in readiness.

Before the end of the interview it was again agreed upon, between General Baird and the Lieut. Governor, that whatever warrant of arrest might be placed in the hands of the Sheriff would be submitted to him before any attempt to have it executed, and that upon the endorsement of the General's objections the matter would be referred to the President. The Mayor, being informed of this arrangement, sent but a small police force to the vicinity of the hall, and the troops that were expected to act in conjunction with the police were eagerly expected at noon.

Information having reached the Lieutenant Governor that in the Third district there was a commencement of effervesence, and that large numbers of negroes were coming towards Laurel street from above and below, he immediately sent a dispatch to the General, conveying this intelligence and urging that the troops be sent without delay. About one hour afterwards the riot broke out, ending in the dispersion of the Convention and the capture of the rioters, including several members of this body.

It is not our purpose to argue the question of fact as to the actual commencement of the collision, and fix precisely the mode and manner in which it originated. We will, however, remark that the collision was, in every instance, brought about by the armed men sustaining the Convention. Suffice it to say, that the civil authorities took all the precautions possible to prevent the outbreak, that they applied, during the three days previous, to have the military to preserve order at the place where the Convention was to meet; that the authorities, State and municipal, had come to an understanding to act in concert with the military for that purpose; that the citizens, no more than the police, contemplated to prevent the Convention holding their meeting peaceably, and adjourn and disperse unmolested; and that the warrant for their arrest would have been submitted to the military, as agreed upon.

Although the President's dispatch to the Lieutenant Governor, and the subsequent one to the Attorney General, were imperative, that the military must sustain and not thwart the Convention, the military authorities had been, for three days previous to the riot, in constant communication with the Attorney General, the Lieutenant Governor and the Mayor, with the view of preventing the impending riot. The efforts were unsuccessful, and could not counteract the effect of the incendiary counsels and appeals of those, who, for sinister purposes, had had in view this very result, in order to reap a political harvest. That the civil authorities have done their duty in this respect is potent; that more could have been done by them was impossible, as they were not allowed to remove the cause of the riot, by taking the proper means to prevent the meeting of the Convention, and we doubt not for a moment that the military commander himself will be the first to corroborate these facts, and to arrest all calumnious imputations against the conduct of our people.

Under these trying circumstances, as regards the proclamation of martial law, the least that can be said is that it was inopportune, for the rioting had ceased completely, the police being master of the situation.

The colored population as a body did not participate in these disgraceful scenes, and freedmen in the vicinity of the riot were standing as lookers on, without being molested. The colored mob in Union street, with a few white rioters who were leading them in this affair, were no doubt well organized. That they were well armed is undoubted, since forty-two policemen and several citizens were either killed or wounded by them. Although the conflict was over in less than two hours, twenty-seven rioters were killed and a considerable number wounded. At dark, when all was over, when those of the mob were either dispersed or in prison, and tranquility and order was restored, martial law was proclaimed, and the prisons where the rioters were confined emptied, by orders from headquarters.

These measures, undoubtedly, were not intended for reviving the hopes of the outlaws, but were they not calculated to inspire them with false hopes?

The very next morning the organ of the agitators was issued, containing, as usual, the most inflammatory articles, and so also the succeeding issues.

Had the military on Monday afternoon taken a stand to co-operate with the civil authorities, instead of proclaiming martial law, the most beneficial effects would have been the result.

We remain, very respectfully, your obedient servants,

(Signed,)
ALBERT VOORHEES,
Lieut. Governor of Louisiana.
A. S. HERRON,
Attorney General of Louisiana.
J. T. MONROE,
Mayor of New Orleans.

Railway Companies Evading the Revenue Law.

NEW YORK, August 7.—Some of the city railway companies are attempting to evade the provisions of the Revenue law by opening offices at remote points and issuing coupon tickets not transferable, and to be detached only by the companies' agents. The matter is to be tested in the Courts.

Registration of Voters in Baltimore.

BALTIMORE, Aug. 7.—The new registration of voters commenced to-day in all the wards, and attracts considerable interest, from the efforts being made by many heretofore excluded on the ground of disloyalty to obtain registration. The status of political parties in this city and State will, of course, depend very much on the result of the registration.

The Taxation of Indians—Decision of Internal Revenue Commissioner.

WASHINGTON, August 7.—The following is an extract from a letter written by the Commissioner of Internal Revenue, with reference to the taxation of a Mr. King, a Shawnee Indian, residing upon a reservation, with others of his tribe, who complain of such tax being imposed.

"I have to say that in view of what I regard as the proper construction of the law, and guided by the former decision of this office, I think Mr. King and his people residing upon their reservation are not subject to tax as complained, and that no assessment can be made upon them; and I have further to say, that as far as the officers of Internal Revenue are concerned, care should be taken that Mr. King and his people are protected in their rights."

The Commissioner of Internal Revenue has prepared an elaborate system of cotton regulations, which will be issued in a few days.

There has been received at the Treasury Department, a plate used in printing counterfeit fifty cent notes, and said to have been captured in New York City, by operatives of the Secret Service Division.

A Servant Charged with Robbing the Washington House of Goods to the Amount of $200.

Yesterday Ellen J. Riley appeared before Alderman Lynch and made oath, charging Bridget Hallegan with larceny. Mrs. Riley is the proprietress of a small grocery store in Market alley, and boards with her sister, Mrs. Moran, at the Washington House, on Union street, north of the Diamond. A few weeks since she missed a silk dress from her trunk, which, for security, she had placed under her bed. Some days after she missed some under clothing and another silk dress, and on last Friday her trunk was robbed of all it contained, including two tablecloths, a silver watch, two sets of jet and gold jewelry, and a number of English sovereigns, amounting in the aggregate to two hundred dollars.

On the day that the final haul was made, Bridget Halligen, who had been employed in the Washington House as a domestic, quit work, on the plea of being sick, and went to her sister on High street, stating that she would return to her work as soon as she was convalescent. Her conduct and embarrassed manner aroused Miss Riley's suspicions, and she went at once to the Alderman's office and made the information as stated.

A search warrant was issued and placed in the hands of officer Connor, who proceeded at once to the house where Bridget was staying and put her under arrest. On searching the house the missing articles were found secreted in a large chest in Bridget's chamber. The accused has been committed to jail to await a hearing to-morrow.

The Alderman and his officer are deserving of credit for the expeditious manner in which they worked this affair up.

The Burning of the Petrolite Oil Works—Estimate of the Loss.

In yesterday's issue we mentioned the fact that the Petrolite Oil Works of Messrs. Wormser, Myers & Co., situated in the borough of Lawrenceville, near the city line, had been destroyed by fire on Monday night, a little after ten o'clock. The origin of the fire is ascribed to the bursting of a still which contained a large amount of oil, the gas emanating from which ignited and communicated to the building, which, together with a shed in the rear, containing two thousand empty oil barrels and one thousand barrels of paint, were totally consumed.

The firm had received during the day a large shipment of crude oil, but fortunately it had not been unloaded from the cars, and thus escaped destruction.

The firm will not suffer any great inconvenience by the destruction of their works, but with undaunted energy will at once rebuild the refineries destroyed, and possibly before another month rolls away they will be in full operation, as though nothing had happened. There was a watchman on duty at the time of the bursting of the still, but the fire could not have been prevented by human caution or watchfulness. The firm will probably lose about $70,000, upon which they have an insurance approximating $30,000.

Barker & Haseltine.

The attention of our readers is directed to the card of Messrs. Barker & Haseltine, southwestern corner of Market and Fifth streets, over Richardson's jewelry store. They deal exclusively in looking glasses, pictures, frames and mouldings, and have a share of the public patronage. Their goods are all selected upon merit, and the purchaser can depend upon finding at this establishment as fine articles in that line of business offered in any house west of the mountains. All the latest styles of frames and mouldings are offered at the most reasonable of rates, and in fact we found, by actual comparison, that the prices range at less figures than that of any similar house in the city. The selection of American and Foreign prints and engravings is remarkably fine, and just such from which an art connoisseur could readily make a selection. We cheerfully commend this firm to the public, knowing them to be in every respect worthy of an unlimited patronage.

Where to Get a Good Meal.—Our friend Holtzheimer continues to drive a flourishing business at the old and popular eating saloon in the basement next door to the Custom House. His viands are the rarest and choicest, while his charges are reasonable and honest, by no means so extortionate as those charged at the more pretentious dining saloon in the same neighborhood. He does not sell bread at the rate of a dollar per loaf, but sets down a full meal at half the sum. Give the Fricker Saloon a call for a good meal at a reasonable price.

Theatrical Manager Robbed.—Mr. Tennany, a theatrical manager, was robbed of $130 in Tidioute, one night last week. His room was entered by the robbers, who stupefied him with chloroform and escaped with their booty. William and George Riber, formerly of Pithole, are the suspected parties. They have escaped, and it is reported have gone to Canada.

Lodged in Jail.—David C. Dibble was lodged in the county jail yesterday, having been brought from the Lycoming jail on a requisition made by the United States District Attorney, R. B. Carnahan. He is charged with passing counterfeit national currency. Since his arrival here he has feigned insanity, and refuses to recognize any one.

Killed in a Coal Pit.—A coal digger named John S. Clark, was killed while at work in Corry & Co.'s coal pit, on the Monongahela river, near Braddock's Field, yesterday, by being crushed by a large mass of slate which fell from the roof. He was married and leaves a wife and three children behind him.

Union Township Case.—John McCartney, yesterday, made the necessary information before Alderman Strain, for the arrest of Wm. Ainsworth, for surety of the peace, having threatened, as alleged, violence to the affiant. The warrant was issued. The parties reside in Union township.

Meeting of Manchester Council.

A meeting of the Manchester Council was held last evening in the borough School building.

There was a full attendance: Messrs. Harper, Kirk, Patterson, Means, Phelps, Motheral, and Burgess McCune.

The minutes of the previous meeting were read and, on motion, approved.

Mr. Kirk, Chairman of the Gas Committee, reported progress.

Mr. Harper moved that the Street Committee be authorized to issue proposals for the grading of Franklin and Chartiers streets. Carried.

Mr. Phelps, from the Sanitary Committee, reported progress, stating that there seemed to be a general desire among the citizens of the borough to act in harmony with the Committee and have the borough placed in a condition to evade the visit of an epidemic.

Mr. Phelps moved that the Wharf Committee, in conjunction with the Wharfmaster, prepare a list of prices for wharfage within the borough limits, the prices to be regulated according the warfage of Pittsburgh and Allegheny.

The motion was seconded, and after a light debate it was put to a vote and carried.

Mr. Harper moved that the Finance Committee be instructed [illegible] street [illegible]. Carried.

Mr. Motheral presented a petition from property holders on Laurel alley, protesting against the grading and paving of the same.

On motion of Mr. Phelps the petition was received.

Mr. Patterson offered a resolution instructing the Street Commissioner to notify the property owners on Laurel alley to keep the same clean until the alley is paved, a contract having been entered into by Council to pave the same.

Mr. Phelps moved that the Street Committee be authorized to consult with the contractors in order to have the contract cancelled. Carried.

Mr. Phelps offered the following resolution: Resolved, That the Street Committee be authorized to confer with the Borough Solicitor, Mr. Kirkpatrick, in relation to the unpaid bill for the cleaning of Beaver street. Carried.

Mr. Phelps moved that the Wharf Master be instructed to make out a bill for wharfage against Samuel Dean, present the same for payment, and in case Mr. Dean refuses to liquidate the debt, that it at once be handed to the Borough Solicitor for collection. Carried.

A communication was read from Mr. Z. Gillespie, asking privilege to lay a track across Hill street, to connect with his coal yard. The communication was accepted, and the prayer of the petitioner granted, the switch to be laid under the supervision of the Street Committee.

The following bills were presented for payment. A bill for the payment of $8.00 to James McMillian, for printing done; a bill from the Pittsburgh Dispatch, for the printing of contract proposals, to the amount of $10.00; a bill for the payment of $12.00, for the erection of twenty-four curb posts; a bill from Dubois & Montgomery for $21.50; a bill from G. Gillespie, for the cleaning of streets, to the amount of $192.50; a bill from A. Stevenson for the payment of $11.45, for stationery and stamps; a bill from the Evening Chronicle, for printing, to the amount of $5.50; a bill from Addy, Williams & Bartley, for $252.00, for the erection of six gas posts on Beaver street.

The bills were all accepted and ordered to be paid.

On motion of Mr. Phelps, the bill of Mr. Hilbard, amounting to $4.75, for costs incurred in the suit of Robinson vs. the Borough of Manchester, was referred to the Finance Committee.

On motion, adjourned.

The Warren and Franklin Railroad.

This road is now open and running to Oil City, a distance of fifty one miles from Irvineton, the junction with the Philadelphia & Erie railroad. The through trains were put on some few days ago, two each day to Irvineton and Oil City, and return, and an accommodation from Irvineton to Tidioute and return, and another from Oil City to Oleopolis and return. The success which has attended the opening and operation of this road so far has been astonishing, and the regularity with which the trains are run is a great credit to the ability of the management.

The original survey of the road extends from Irvineton to Oleopolis, a distance of 42 miles, but the company purchased nine miles of road between Oleopolis and Oil City, and now own and operate the whole of it. The Allegheny Valley Railroad, from Oil City to Franklin, is being rapidly completed, and will soon be put in operation, which will give the Warren and Franklin Company a direct connection with Pittsburgh.

These two roads will throw the entire oil trade of the Allegheny Valley, more than one-half of the trade of the oil region, into Philadelphia and Pittsburgh. The distance from Oil City to Philadelphia is 139 miles—from Oil City to Pittsburgh 105 miles. They also establish between Pittsburgh and Warren a narrow gauge railroad route of 100 miles, which was formerly traversed by water, in the most expensive and inefficient manner, in a distance of nearly 130 miles. The distance to Philadelphia, from Oil City, via Pittsburgh, will be but little over 400 miles, or nearly the same as via the Philadelphia and Erie route, so that Philadelphia already has the most direct and cheapest railroad communication with the oil region of any Atlantic city, and when the Allegheny Valley road is entirely completed, she will be furnished with two of the nearest and best routes. The advantages of the Warren and Franklin railroad to Philadelphia will not be felt by that city until her business men make an estimate of the amount of oil which it will carry to their market. One day last week contracts were made by the officers of that road to bring out sixty thousand barrels of oil, and the amount which will be hauled daily, for some time to come, with the as yet limited facilities, will not fall much short of three thousand barrels, with an aggregate of a much larger quantity.

The gentlemen who have projected the enterprise are well and favorably known in the oil region, Mr. Spencer as the Superintendent of the Bennehoff Run Petroleum Company, and Mr. Steele from his late connection with the First National Bank of Meadville.

United States District Court.

Hon. Wilson McCandless, presiding.

TUESDAY, August 7.—Court reassembled at ten o'clock, and the usual charge was delivered to the Grand Jury, General David McMurtrie, of Huntingdon, being chosen foreman.

The first called was that of Arthur Kirkpatrick, indicted, in May last, for passing counterfeit fractional currency. The defendant was arrested at his stand in the Diamond Market, having passed several counterfeit fifty cent notes on a colored girl named Maria Smith. After being arraigned he plead guilty and was remanded to jail for sentence.

A. G. Lucas, Esq., already admitted to practice in the several courts of Allegheny county, was, on motion of District Attorney Carnahan, admitted to practice in the United States District Court.

Allegheny City Nuisances.

Street Commissioner Ihlworth, of Allegheny, is prosecuting persons violating the provisions of the ordinance recently adopted by City Councils. Yesterday he made thirteen informations before Alderman Lindsay, of the Third ward, which were disposed of as follows: John Hutchinson and Dr. Sands were fined five dollars and costs, for allowing outhouses on their premises to become offensive; Jacob Merock, Peter Main, R. Ray, Chas. Folk, Patrick Coursins, Charles Lampus, John Butler, were charged with keeping pig pens within the city limits. They were discharged on payment of costs and promising to remove the nuisance. John Sterritt, charged with placing dirt in an alley, was required to remove the same and pay the costs, and Smith & Daane were fined two dollars and costs for obstructing the sidewalks.

A Litigious Valentine.

A lady named Annie Valentine, hailing from Pitt township, appeared before Alderman Morrow, yesterday, and made oath against M. W. Connelly for assault and battery. The parties, it appears, quarreled about a bake-oven, and in the dispute Connelly struck Annie over the arm with a heavy stick, the blow being of such force as to render that important member of her body unable to fulfill its functions for several weeks. Annie determined to show her assailant that even a Valentine could not be struck with impunity, and therefore proceeded to enter suit against him as stated. Connelly was arrested, and after a hearing gave bail for his appearance at court. This is the third police case in which Annie has figured within a few weeks.

Alderman Butler's Office.

Robert M'Creary appeared by compulsion before Alderman Butler, yesterday, to answer for committing an assault and battery on Thomas M'Creary, and was obliged to give bail for a hearing, which was fixed to take place to-day.

In the case of Charles Howard, charged by John Smith with larceny, a hearing was had, and the accused held in his own recognizance to await the arrest of another party, supposed to be the real offender.

Granted.—Among others who feel grateful to the powers that be, for their consideration and exercise of sound discretion, is Mr. Robert Edwards, the proprietor, and also the patrons, of the Union Hotel, in Pipetown. They so feel upon assurance of the fact that the application for license has been granted by the Court. This house is not a "doggery" in any sense, nor a common "drinking house," but regarded, as the Court must have been convinced, as a necessity in the neighborhood. It is patronized mainly by Welsh people, and of our adopted citizens they are the most law-abiding and orderly.

Larceny of Clothing.—Patrick McDermott, an employee in Martin's shoe store, Federal street, Allegheny, appeared before Alderman Lynch, yesterday, and made oath against John Philson for the larceny of an overcoat valued at $15. McDermott had been boarding, until recently, in Philson's house and, becoming indebted to him for two weeks board, changed his quarters. Fearing that McDermott intended to defraud him, Philson proceeded to Martin's store and took the coat in lieu of the board bill. Philson was arrested and entered bail for a hearing to-day.

Repaired.—The track of the Allegheny Valley Railroad, which was warped and destroyed by the fire at Wormser, Myers & Co's Oil Refinery, has been re-laid, and the trains run as usual.

Meeting of the Board of Control.

There was a meeting of the Board of Control of the Allegheny Public Schools, last evening, at the Sandusky Street, Fourth Ward, School House.

The Rev. Dr. Clark occupied the chair, and Mr. R. Francis officiated as Secretary. The Directors present were Messrs. Barr, Barker, Brown, Belkart, Clark, Dunlap, Francis, Ingham, Kellock, Loomis, McCance, Hall, G. R. Riddle, Samuel Riddle, Scott, Thomas, White and Young.

After the roll was called, and the minutes of the previous meeting read and approved, the Secretary read communications from the local boards relative to the appointment of teachers for the ensuing year.

The Committee on Finance presented a report from which we glean the following:

The indebtedness of the schools at the commencement of the fiscal year, in September, 1865, was $1,024 54. Amount disbursed in different ways, $32,076 81. Total, $33,101 35. Aggregate receipts, $31,858 15, thus leaving the Board in debt, $1,243 20. The following salaries are to be added: First ward, $6,140; Second ward, $7,250; Third ward, $7,800; Fourth ward, $6,750; Colored School, $1,200; Vocal Music, $900; Contingencies, $975; Tax [illegible] for the year: First ward, $9,143 [illegible]; Second [illegible]; Third ward, $7,756 72; Fourth ward, $13,565 41. Estimated losses and discounts, $4,592 90. Probable debt, $[illegible]. The salary of the Musical Instructor was increased to $800 per annum, and W. H. Slack elected to that position.

Mr. J. W. Hall, from the Committee on Text Books, presented the report of that committee recommending that no change be made in the list of books now used in the Allegheny Public Schools. As soon as the subject was fairly presented to the Board, an interesting debate sprung up on the relative value to the cause of education in Allegheny of Burt's and Clarke's Grammar, and Wilson's and Osgood's School Readers.

The final vote resulted as follows: For Wilson's Readers, four; for Osgood's Readers, thirteen; for Clark's Grammar, seven; for Burt's Grammar, ten. The text books for grammar and reading at present in use were, therefore, retained, and the report of the committee finally adopted, thirteen to three. The Board then adjourned.

Philadelphia University of Medicine and Surgery.

The trustees and faculty of the above Medical College have issued "scholarships" at seventy-five dollars each, which entitles the holders to attend lectures until graduation or as many sessions as he wishes.

This renders a medical education cheaper than ever proposed by any University or College in this country or Europe, possessing the same extensive facilities.

The facilities of the University are: First, it has the largest College edifice in the city; second, the best amphitheater and lecture halls in the United States; third, the best dissecting rooms; fourth, extensive chemical and philosophical apparatus; fifth, the materia medica embraces all the medicines used by all classes of physicians; sixth, the museum consists of a most extensive collection of anatomical and pathological specimens. In all, there are fifty-three rooms in the College.

There are sixteen Professors and every branch of Medicine and Surgery is thoroughly taught.

The student holding a "scholarship" can enter the college at any time during the Lectures, attend as long as he wishes, and re-enter the Institution as frequently as desired.

Persons wishing to obtain scholarships can apply to L. Oldshue, M. D., Professor of Urino Pathology in the above-mentioned College. His office and residence is No. 132 Grant street, Pittsburgh, Pa.

Alleged Robbery.—An individual, giving his name as Robert Glassford, came to the office of Alderman Lynch, yesterday, and stated that a few nights since, while passing along Carson street, in the borough of Birmingham, he had been knocked down and robbed of $3.50. He was so inebriated at the time that he was unable to give any information to the magistrate that would justify him in taking cognizance of the matter, and was told to come back to-day, in the hope that he would be sober enough to tell a straight story.

Prosecuted for Perjury.—Henry Heshauser appeared before Alderman Strain, yesterday, and prosecuted Elizabeth Wagner and Adolph Frazier, residing in East Liberty, for wilful and corrupt perjury, in swearing falsely to a matter material to the issue in a case before Justice Thomas Davidson, wherein Heshauser was plaintiff and Adolph Fazier defendant. Warrants were issued for the arrest of the accused.

Bridge Celebration.—The people of Oil City indulged in a celebration the other day over the completion of the iron bridge over Oil creek. A platform was erected at one end of the bridge, and music and speeches were the order of the occasion. The bridge is of wrought iron, a single span, one hundred and eighty feet in length, and three graduated arches. The width is forty feet. Its estimated cost is $80,000.

Fatal Accident.—Mr. William Hart, Superintendent Engineer of the Economy Oil Company was killed instantly at Tidioute, a day or two ago, by the explosion of gas in a well which he was sinking. The deceased was found, late in the evening, at the bottom of the shaft—his face terribly mangled, but no bones broken except the ribs. He leaves a wife and child near Reading, Pa.

Laying of a Corner Stone.—The corner stone of the new Episcopal church, at Franklin, was laid with appropriate ceremonies on Monday last. The new edifice is to be built entirely of stone, and when completed will be an ornament to the town, and supply a need long felt by the Episcopalians of Franklin.

Fined.—Alderman Morrow fined Marshal & Kerr $5, yesterday, for maintaining a nuisance on their premises, on the corner of Logan and Webster streets, in the Sixth Ward. He also imposed a fine of $5 on John McClarran for a like offense. J. B. Williams, assistant officer of the Board of Health, was the complainant in both cases.

Malicious Mischief.—Elizabeth Derrigan appeared before Alderman Lynch yesterday, and preferred a charge of malicious mischief against Ellen Donnelly. The offense consisted in the accused breaking the windows in a dwelling occupied by Mrs. Derrigan, on Webster street, in the Third ward.

The Allegheny Times.—We yesterday called in at the sanctum of our worthy cotemporary, the Allegheny Times. Everything is complete about the office, and the enterprise of the proprietor is deserving of even more success than has yet been awarded. The Times is a reliable, spicy sheet, and has a large local circulation.

Corry Enterprises.—There is a good prospect of a rolling mill in Corry, Pa. The people of that place are determined on the subject, and they never fail.

Killed.—Joseph McClelland, a very worthy engineer of the Pennsylvania Railroad, was killed instantly at Parkersburg a day or two since. He was on the top of the train while passing through a bridge, the timbers striking him upon the head.

Approaching Completion.—The Farmers' Railroad from Oil City to Petroleum Center is rapidly approaching completion. By the first of September, it is thought, trains will run its entire length.

Another Death from Oil.—A daughter of J. Cronin, eleven years old, living at Hickory Run, was so badly burned by the explosion of a carbon oil can the other day, that she died in about two hours.

Reconstruction.—A Union pole, upon which was run up a Union flag, was cut down, and the bunting torn into ribbons, by the reconstructed rebels of Bethany, West Virginia.

New Cars.—The Citizens Passenger Railway Company has just placed a number of new and elegant cars upon their route. This is one of the best managed railways in the county.

Guilty of Mayhem.—Tom King, late proprietor of the Fashions, Petroleum Center, was arrested by the Sheriff of Erie county, on Thursday last, for biting off a man's ear.

Up to Business.—At the late fire at the Holmden Farm, the Superintendent of well 121 contracted for the purchase of a new derrick and rig before the old one was fairly burnt.

Incendiarism.—An incendiary fired, and burnt up M. Drennon & Bro's grocery store at Venango city, on Friday. Loss $4,000, on which was $1,500 insurance.

Heavy Receipts.—Ninety-six thousand barrels of oil were received at Corry during the month of July, via the Oil Creek Railroad.

Killed by a Falling Derrick.—Henry Ridley was killed near Wagefarth City, Cherry Run, on Wednesday, by a falling derrick.

Highway Robbery.—John Lathers was attacked last week, near Oil City, by three ruffians, and robbed of two hundred dollars.

Drowned.—John Mayer, of Harrisburg, was recently drowned in the Susquehanna, in attempting to wade the river.

New National Bank.—A new National Bank is to be established at Petroleum Centre.

Special Caution.—Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup has become so popular that various parties have put out articles calling them Mrs. Winslow's. Please take notice that the Mrs. Winslow of the Soothing Syrup is not connected with any other article. 1yl1:d&w

REPUBLICANS! do not forget the meeting at the City Hall to-night, to hear HAMILTON, FORNEY, GROW and HALL! Let there be a grand turn out.

GENERAL SHERIDAN was not in New Orleans during the massacre. He was down in Texas, engaged in some sort of negotiation with republican leaders in Mexico. When he got back he sent to General GRANT a telegraphic dispatch, of which the following are the material portions:

"The leaders were political agitators and revolutionary men, and the action of the Convention was liable to produce breaches of the public peace.

"I had made up my mind to arrest the head men if the proceedings of the Convention were calculated to disturb the tranquility of the department, but I had no cause for action until they committed the overt act."

General SHERIDAN demonstrated, on many battle-fields, his eminent fitness for military command. In this dispatch he demonstrates his total ignorance of civil rights, as defined and regulated by law, and his unfitness to deal with any questions except such as are purely of military character.

What law is there in the United States prohibiting a citizen from being a "political agitator?" In a republic—under all forms of government in which the people are recognized as factors—"political agitators" are just as essential to the health of the body politic; to the conservation and growth of individual and public liberty, as winds are to the purity of the atmosphere, and tides to the translucence of the ocean. A citizen has just as valid a right to be a "political agitator," as to be a mechanic, a merchant, or any thing else. Nor is there any law forbidding citizens from being "political revolutionists." Each citizen has an undoubted right by argument and persuasion—by appeals to reason, to interest, to feeling—to endeavor to accomplish any changes he conceives to be wise and beneficial, either in the laws or customs of the country. This is implied in the very idea and structure of free government. General SHERIDAN's conception is not of a government, based on popular opinion as consolidated into laws, but of a government founded on force, and having bayonets for its exponents.

A score or so of men, claiming a civil function, assembled in a public hall. So far as appears, a squad of police would readily have arrested or dispersed them. What business had Gen. SHERIDAN to think of arresting them by the exercise of military authority? There was no pretense that the courts of law were shut, or the Judges restrained or coerced in the performance of their duties. On the contrary, there is abundant proof that the courts were ready and competent to deal with the whole matter at issue.

Nor does it help Gen. SHERIDAN's view of the case to pretend that the convocation of the Convention exasperated the rebel portion of the population, or any other portion thereof, so that a riot was imminent. It is the province of the authorities, civil and military, in due subordination, to put down mobs; but when the authorities undertake to put down peaceable people, or to debar such from the exercise of any unquestionable right, because ruffians resort to violent aggressions upon them, the authorities become panderers to lawlessness, sink themselves to the level of the ruffians whose ends they subserve, and take upon themselves a double measure of shame and criminality.

In our columns to-day will be found an account of the massacre, by an eye-witness. The writer is undoubtedly Mr. REID, better known as "Agate," of the Cincinnati Gazette, now cultivating a Mississippi cotton plantation. He is a cool, dispassionate observer of events, and never hesitates to pronounce his duly formed judgment, no matter who it may hit. We ask our readers to go carefully over his detail of the lamentable affair. Having done this we are sure they will concur with us in opinion that the massacre was deliberately planned, and that the President played directly into the hands of the murderers. That high functionary cannot screen himself under the plea that the Convention was illegal. It was a peaceable and orderly convocation of citizens. All the evidence taken since the massacre shows that it was. The violence of the President and the violence of the rebel leaders, who were thirsty for blood, acted and reacted upon each other, to produce the sanguinary catastrophe.

ANOTHER change has come over the Chicago Republican. Messrs V. B. DENSLOW, Esq., the principal editorial writer in the Chicago Tribune; H. M. SMITH, Esq., who has been one of the editors of the Tribune from its original establishment; J. F. BALLANTYNE, Esq., the commercial editor of the Tribune and member of the Board of Education, and G. D. WILLISTON, Esq., who has for several years had charge of the financial department of the Tribune, have bought a controlling interest in the stock of the association. Next Monday the whole management will pass into their hands. The course of this journal under the new auspices will be thoroughly Republican.

GENERAL CHALMERS, in his speech in Memphis the other day, said:

"Like the gladiator for the arena, let us be ready with the sword drawn and the scabbard thrown aside; let us prepare for the struggle. Soon I expect to hear the straggling shots of the skirmishers, breaking into the roar of musketry; and finally, the deafening boom of the cannon. Then, where shall Tennessee be?"

This is the sort of talk the President's Policy is making fashionable throughout the Southern States.

THE NEW ORLEANS MASSACRE.

Full Account by an Eye Witness.

[Special Correspondence Cincinnati Gazette.]

NEW ORLEANS, July 31, 1866.

In spite of a promise to the physicians to avoid newspaper writing, and of a promise to myself to avoid wearing out a welcome always too kindly given by the readers of this journal, I cannot avoid some account of yesterday's work. Necessity is upon me, as upon every honest man able to reach the avenues of public opinion, to tell that which my eyes have seen and my ears have heard of the latest rebel victory in this city, and the men who organized it.

It was no drunken brawl, or low street fight that clothed the floors of Mechanics' Institute with gore, and filled the carts that hauled dead men like freshly slaughtered swine through the streets. I saw the Governor of Louisiana, for whose inauguration Banks' cannon thundered their choral salute, and Abraham Lincoln gave public thanks, dragged, lame as he was, for two squares through a hooting mob that, gracing such men as Humphrey Marshall, smiling delighted approval from the verandahs above, shouted and cheered, while the paroled rebel soldiers, wearing the uniform of the police of New Orleans, roughly jerked him forward, and the rioters from behind shot at and cut at and struck at him, till his bare head and his shoulders were dripping with the fresh flowing blood. Elegantly appearing persons, assuming the selectest places in the aristocratic society of the city, leaped upon the lifeless bodies of freshly murdered men as they lay on Canal street, within sight of the Clay statue, and crushed flesh and bones with their heels. Cheers and laughter greeted an express wagon that passed the corner of Carondelet and Common containing the bodies of six murdered negroes, heaped up one upon another till the wagon body would hold no more. The man for whose murderous career no fitting terms could be found till, years ago, the citizens, by common consent, borrowed a name from the atrocities of the East, and called him the King of the Thugs, led a body of fifty paroled rebel soldiers in the uniform of policemen to the charge upon the "Convention and the negroes." Is it not right to call such scenes and such triumphs a rebel victory?

At the closing session of the last Congress, two of the conspicuous movers in the effort to reassemble the Convention were claimants of seats in the United States Senate, to which they had been duly elected by the Legislature. The whole Conservative party demanded their admission, and when Charles Sumner and Ben. Wade resorted to filibustering to prevent it, the denunciation was almost universal. Afterward, one of these Senators elect, Mr. R. King Cutler, published an address to his constituents, demanding compensation for the emancipated slaves! Now, the wind having shifted, as he thinks, he has been demanding universal negro suffrage at all hazards!

Under his lead, and that of other more respectable men, a temporary President was induced to issue a call for the Convention to reassemble, and the treble traitor, Gov. Wells, to issue a proclamation for an election to fill vacancies. On Friday evening a mass meeting was held at the Convention building, (the Mechanics' Institute,) and defiant speeches were made by Cutler, Dr. Dostie, Judge Hiestand and others. Next day the city was all aflame. The papers reported that incendiary speeches had been made and it was in everybody's mouth that Dr. Dostie and King Cutler had advised the negroes to arm themselves on Monday, and stand by the Convention that was going to give them suffrage, drive off the police, shoot, stab and destroy their enemies.

I was present at the latter part of this meeting, and heard most of the objectionable speeches, but heard nothing of this kind. The demand for negro suffrage was the great feature of the evening. Threats had been made that the Convention should be broken up, and its friends (not negroes as such, but in general, "its friends") were urged to be present and protect it from violence. There was some excitement and much enthusiasm; but neither the speeches nor the tone of the crowd struck me as more intemperate than is usual at large political meetings.

About eleven o'clock at night, however, a mixed procession, whites and negroes, had been formed, which marched up Canal and St. Charles streets. It was interrupted once or twice, and negroes, breaking from the ranks, had chased those trying to make the disturbance out of the streets. After this, I was told by a prominent member of the Convention, that he knew there was reason to expect a riot on Monday, and that if it came, the rebels would suffer.

All day Saturday and Sunday men talked of this revolutionary meeting and the revolutionary Convention that was to meet on Monday, the inflammatory speeches and the riot we were sure to have. Pistols were purchased in large numbers, and everybody seemed preparing. Sunday night the rebel Mayor of the city, Mr. John T. Monroe, sent to the Dry Tortugas by Butler, elected to the Mayoralty by the returned rebel soldiers as a reward for his sufferings, and especially pardoned by the President, that he might enter upon the duties of his office, called a private meeting to consult. The President had been telegraphed that the Convention was about to assemble, in defiance of the courts, i. e. in defiance of the charge of Judge Abell (a petty Judge here,) to the grand jury, to the effect that their assemblage would be a violation of the oath of office they had taken in 1864, and should be punished as perjury. The President had replied that the military would sustain the civil courts. Conceiving everything to be now in their own hands, the rebel authorities thought they should be able to "settle the Convention and the niggers."

Monday morning everybody talked about "the riot that was to come off to-day." Some business houses were never opened at all, or were closed by nine o'clock. The streets were full, and nearly all the residents were armed. The assembling of the Convention seemed to be awaited as the signal for the expected outbreak. Respectable rebel citizens earnestly advised their friends who were strangers in the city not to be induced by curiosity or any other motive to go into the hall of the Convention, and assured them that they knew there would be bloodshed.

By twelve o'clock, Canal and Common streets, between which the Mechanics' Institute is situated, were crowded. Men gathered in excited groups about the doors of the houses and at the crossings, and the chance appearance of a negro was sure to produce that indefinable murmur which the reporters are so fond of calling "sensation." Rumors of affrays between negroes and whites in distant parts of the city, occasionally passed from mouth to mouth.

A little after twelve o'clock, the members of the Convention, who had repaired to the Institute as unostentatiously as possible, were called to order. Only twenty-five or thirty answered to their names, but a few more came in after the roll call. The Sergeant-at-Arms was ordered to bring in absentees, and meantime a recess of an hour was voted. By this time a considerable crowd of whites and negroes had assembled in the chamber outside the bar; and a larger crowd, composed mainly of negroes, nearly all armed either with clubs or revolvers, had gathered in the street before the door. Half a square off, on Canal street, the citizens and police were assembling. Manifestly here were the materials for an explosion. It wanted but a spark, that any accident, at any moment, might furnish.

At this unfortunate juncture, a procession of negroes, preceded by a band of music, came marching up from the French quarter. The crowd in front of the Institute cheered them heartily as they approached, to which they responded, amid the curses and jeers of the whites on Canal street. What next followed no man can now undertake to affirm. The negroes say that a policeman wantonly fired into their column. The policemen say that the negroes raised the cry of "kill the d——d rebels," as some of them were attempting to make a needful arrest. Still others say that a white man, accidentally or intentionally jostled from the curbstone by a member of the passing procession, fired at the offender and drew out a return shot. It is certain that in a moment or two shots came to be exchanged, and both negroes and whites began those surges to and fro, rushes around the corner and rallies down the street again which generally mark the inception of a street fight. One or two negroes fell; the policemen continued to discharge their revolvers into the corpses, and the sight of blood inflamed all alike.

Meantime, that which happened inside the Mechanics' Institute, which had thus become the nucleus of the opening riot—the only available point of refuge for the negroes, and the central object of attack to citizens and rebel soldiers in the uniform of policemen, may be more definitely stated.

Within a few moments after the first shot, balls began to strike the building; and under the impulse of the excitement, the members of the Convention all sprang to their feet. On the appeal, however, of some one cooler than the rest, they resumed their seats, determined to await with dignity the expected attack. Presently a rush was heard at the door below, and then the hasty tramping of many feet on the stairways. Every one supposed this to be a body of the police, though it is now known to have been a party of negroes running from the heavy fire suddenly poured down the street from the citizens and policemen at the corner of Canal. Momentarily therefore expecting a rush of policemen into the Hall to arrest the members, the Convention deliberated what to do. After few words, the proposition of Mr. Alfred Shaw, Ex-Sheriff of New Orleans, and a gentleman of character, prevailed. He was, therefore, deputed to inform the police that inside the Hall no resistance would be made to any legal officers, claiming the right to make arrests. With this message he passed out from the door which he was not destined soon to enter again.

With a white handkerchief in his hand he crossed the outside passage and started down one of the winding staircases. By this time a strong body of the police had driven the negroes from the front of the Institute by a sudden dash, and a dozen of them, gaining the building, were rushing up the stairs, when they met Mr. Shaw coming down. "Kill him," "There's Shaw, the scoundrel, shoot him down," "Let me at him," were the first exclamations, and those below sought to crowd up till they could see to shoot at him. Others said, "No, he has a white handkerchief; take him to the station house." Through the hubbub and scuffle Shaw succeeded in making them understand his message. "That's right, let them surrender peaceably," said some. "Kill that d——d scoundrel Shaw," exclaimed others. Meantime two policemen, seizing him firmly, and another forcing a way through the crowd and keeping assailants off, they succeeded in reaching the pavement. Here a mingled mob of citizens, policemen and negroes—the latter mostly in the side alleys or in door yards—were exchanging shots. A rush was made for Shaw, the moment he appeared in the custody of the policemen, and the fire was concentrated upon him. Presently, a ball struck him in the shoulder, and there was every indication that in a moment or two longer he would certainly be killed, when the policemen, dodging around a corner, hustled him off to the jail, when, without charge or commitment, wounded and exhausted, he was thrown into a cell.

The firing continued about the Mechanics' Institute, spread toward the river along Canal and Common streets, and even broke out in the square back of the Institute, along Carondelet. The fighting negroes did not scatter in this way, but the mob followed every prisoner whom the policemen led off, and attacked, on sight, every negro found in the vicinity. The body servant of Humphrey Marshall was thus pursued and fired at along Carondelet, in his master's sight. A moment later, another unarmed negro, apparently belonging to one of the adjacent offices, seeming to think the street no place for him, began to run. In an instant two policemen and a score of citizens were after him, the policemen firing as they ran. Five shots were fired, and the negro fell, pierced with three.

But this was only the by-play, and scenes like this were occurring in a dozen different places. The Mechanics' Institute was still the central point. The police and citizens had possession of the lower story and of the staircases. The Sergeant-at-Arms had barricaded the doors to the chamber of the Convention when Shaw went out. The police charge that the negroes in the lobby of the chamber began firing from the windows upon the members of their force in the street. It is certain that they were firing at the windows of the Convention, and that the negroes in the alleys and door yards were firing at them, and that brick bats were also freely flying. A considerable number of citizens had joined the police force in and about the Institute, and great crowds, gathered at the corners of Canal and Common, and along the route to the City Hall, were firing at or rushing upon the few prisoners brought along.

Finally a crowd of policemen and citizens made a rush at the doors of the Convention chamber and broke them down. The exact order of what immediately followed no man can tell. It is only certain that as they entered the attacking party delivered a volley into the huddled mass of members and spectators, which killed and wounded several, and received one, severely wounding some of the policemen and killing some of the citizens. Each side charges that the other fired first, and whether from testimony of participants or from the sound of the volleys, it seems impossible to reach any other conclusion than that they were nearly or quite simultaneous.

There followed a series of short and bloody individual conflicts. Negroes were shot down, members of the Convention wounded and arrested, and the scenes of violence in the streets intensified tenfold as persons began to emerge from the building.

Standing at this moment in the highest verandah of Victor's restaurant, looking directly down the street to the Institute, was a late Major General of the United States service. He saw four policemen bear out the seemingly lifeless body of Dr. Dostie, an earnest, sincere, perhaps fanatical member of the Convention, a prominent Free Mason, and a gentleman against whose private character no charge was ever made. His head hung down till it almost dragged on the pavement; blood was streaming from his wounds and marking the path by which he was borne. Around this inanimate body the crowd rushed and blasphemed, or laughed and cheered. At last a cart was reached, and the body was thrown in, when a more determined rush than any previous one was made, and the rioters broke through. Before the cart could be started, several blows had been rained upon the bleeding body, and the General felt sure that as one man's hand descended he caught the gleam of a knife.

The news flew among the rioters that Dr. Dostie was killed, and it was everywhere received, many squares off even, where people had scarcely became inflamed with the fever of the massacre, with expressions of satisfaction and positive delight.

Meanwhile, returning from Canal street up Carondelet, I had just secured a place on the verandah of a friend's rooms, near the corner of Common, when great cheers came up from the Institute, and a dense mob crowded along Common street toward the St. Charles Hotel. As they approached we could make out four policemen with cocked revolvers, and in their midst, with hat knocked off, with coat nearly torn from his shoulders, with blood clotted over his head and about his neck, with citizens rushing at him, striking at him, shouting, "kill him," partly limping and partly jerked along by the infuriated policemen, came Michael Hahn, ex-member of the United States House of Representatives, ex-Governor of Louisiana, and United States Senator elect from the Legislature of Louisiana—the man to whom Abraham Lincoln confidentially wrote that "negro suffrage might yet in some hour of peril, help to keep the jewel of Liberty in the family of Freedom!" In ten minutes he was lying bleeding and feverish, in a cell of the city jail! "He was more scared than hurt," is the cool comment of the "leading journal" this morning.

A little later came the only stroke of the comic in all this sad tragedy. The boaster of the Convention, the hero who would do and dare and die for his new born love for negro suffrage, had not yet been found. Arrayed in spotless white he had been seen to enter the Chamber before the opening of the Convention, but since the firing began, no eye of negro had been cheered, no heart of Convention member nerved, no soul of policeman inflamed by the radiant sight of R. King Cutler. The last member had been driven out to the mob, and the last negro stabbed; the Chamber was occupied only by the police, the other rioters and the dead; but still the hero was missing. At last a bright thought struck a policeman. He explored the chimney. Its throat was narrow, and King Cutler's body was large, and so, instead of being quite swallowed up, there he stuck! In a moment a nondescript figure came up the street, between policemen and rioters, all so amused that for the moment, they lost their appetite for murder. Republican or not, King Cutler was black. His white hat, jammed down over his blackened nose and ears, like a half painted ship, was already colored, fore and aft. His white coat hung down all black behind. His sparkling shirt front presented a fitting stripe to correspond. The waistband of his voluminous pantaloons—but alas! that was where he stuck; and so must I.

The Convention had been thoroughly broken up an hour ago—if that were the object of Mr. John T. Monroe and his rebel soldier policemen. The negro procession had been scattered, its leaders killed, and dozens of innocent negroes struck by the same hapless fate, if that were their object. But still the authorities and the citizens continued the riot.

An innocent negro, carrying a roll of cotton samples under his arm, quietly passed the St. Charles Hotel. Four hack men pounced upon him, began beating the non-resistant, and collected a crowd. A policeman rushed up, and without a word of inquiry discharged every barrel of his revolver at the prostrate negro, who kept crying, "Arrest me, I've done nothing; arrest me, but for God's sake don't kill me in cold blood." To the amazement of all, every shot missed him. "But," exclaimed a reputable citizen—let the expression be set down forever to his honor with those who know him—"if I'd had a pistol, I'd have killed the miscreant policeman."

Carts were constantly passing, laden with the bodies of murdered negroes. In one I counted six, many had two and three. All were greeted with laughter, occasionally one evoked a cheer. Now and then a carriage passed with some wounded white man, and not unfrequently the crowds would make a rush upon him to see if he were one of the obnoxious radicals.

Meantime, the fighting negroes, retreating below Canal street, into the French quarter of the city, had once or twice reorganized, and made charges on the police, in the hope of rescuing some of their friends or avenging their death. In the course of the afternoon between twenty and thirty policemen were thus wounded. The number on the other side can only be given by conjecture. Wherever a negro, either entirely peaceable or by accident cut off from his comrades, was found, he was pursued, and if possible shot.

One fell thus near the noted millinery shop of Madame Sophie, a few doors below Hebock's bookstore. A gentleman—so far as clothes go, and general demeanor—stepped out from the sidewalk, and devoted a minute or two to vigorously kicking the dead body. A bystander made some expression of horror and disgust, when a policeman turned sharp on him with, "Are you one of them, sir?" He protested that he was not; "He lies," exclaimed another, "he's a Yankee soldier!" The luckless person protested that he was not; the policeman fiercely questioned him, and at last allowed him to escape, on the express ground that he "guessed he wasn't a Federal soldier after all." This occurred in sight and hearing of at least one late General of our army, who stood on an adjacent upper verandah.

It was nearly or quite four o'clock. There were artillery, cavalry, and black and white infantry within an hour's call. There was a General of the United States Volunteers in command, and, during the unexpectedly prolonged absence of Sheridan in Texas, he was in supreme command. But he was not merely a General of volunteers. He was one of the highest officers in the Freedmen's Bureau. His uniform made it his duty to maintain order, but his special position made it his special duty to see that the freedmen under his direct personal charge were not carelessly butchered by paroled rebel soldiers. Yet he did nothing! One late Major General of our volunteers sought in vain to gain admission to his closely guarded doors. Two others persisted till they got in, and demanded the cause of his amazing inaction. He didn't know that there was anything requiring his intervention! Not to know that was to be an idiot. Not to act upon it was to be an eunuch.

Finally, as it should seem, he was bullied into acting. Passing down Carondelet with a friend, as late, I should judge, as between four and five, we came out into Canal, just as the mob was shooting down a helpless, solitary negro, who was vainly attempting to dash across the street to a place of safety. Turning from the devilish sight, we saw toward the river, beyond Canal street, the fluttering of a single guidon. And in a moment Mower, a soldierly General was there, with a hastily gathered little staff. He rode across by the Clay statue, but that moment the mob shot down another negro. In an instant a section of artillery—regulars, I should think—dashed up, and as the pieces were unlimbered and wheeled upon the mob, a panting negro saved his life by darting to the guns.

My companion and myself "moved on." In less than a square a regiment in blue—thank God for the color at last!—came up Canal street on the double quick, and obliquing from side to side, left no rioters behind the artillery.

There were a few straggling shots through the evening, but that was the end of the riot.

A Union ex-Major General walked down an hour later, to demand of Mayor Monroe, in the name of common decency and humanity, the release from the stifling jail where these wounded men still lay, of Governor Hahn, Sheriff Shaw, Dr. Dostie, A. P. Field, and the rest. He was met by the smiling Mayor with the inquiry if the "thing hadn't been pretty well done?" While he was getting his question fitly answered, in walked Cavalry Kautz.

"Is this Mr. Monroe?"

"Yes, sir."

"I am directed, sir, to relieve you of any duties as Mayor of this city, and assume command as military governor of New Orleans! Yourself and other officials will await and obey my orders."

In a moment he received his first order. It was to accompany an aid, and see to it that the members of the Convention and other innocent citizens should be released instantly.

CHOLERA! CHOLERA!! CHOLERA!!!

With the almost certain advent of cholera with the coming of the spring, no thoughtful person will be unprepared for it. Secure what experience has demonstrated to be the most certain antidote—that which has cured once, will cure again—and never purchase a new and untried article, when an old and reliable article can be had.

When the cholera visited us on two former occasions, it was found by experience that FLEMING'S CHOLERA MIXTURE Was the best and superseded all others; therefore it stands to reason that, if you would have an article that you can depend on, you should purchase it to the exclusion of all others. EARLY TELEGRAMS.

FROM WASHINGTON.

Dissatisfaction Among Sailors—Southern Lunatic Asylums Filled to Overflowing—General Canby to be Assistant Secretary of War—A Conscientious Congressman.

NEW YORK, August 7.—The morning papers have the following specials from Washington: Considerable feeling is manifested among the sailors of the navy, and has crept out in dispatches to the Navy Department, at the omission by Congress of any recognition of the services of that important arm in the late war. The bounty bill, appropriating an additional bounty of one hundred dollars to soldiers, makes no mention of the sailors, nor are they anywhere mentioned or rewarded for their equally meritorious services.

The sudden transition from slavery to freedom, together with the immense amount of suffering incident thereto, has filled to overflowing the lunatic asylums of the State.

It is currently reported that Major General E. R. S. Canby will succeed General T. T. Eckert as Assistant Secretary of War. No appointment has yet been made.

The large farm of the Hon. Joseph Segur, at Hampton, Virginia, has been occupied by the Federal troops since 1861, now five years, neither the rent for which nor the use and destruction of personal property, valued at ten thousand dollars, has ever been compensated for. At present he is unable to obtain indemnity, owing to the ruling of General Meigs that a claimant must not only himself be loyal, but his claim must originate in a loyal State. This decision is being considered by the Secretary of War, as it affects the vital interests of a large class of Unionists, whose only dependence was necessarily taken by our troops, but who have been unable to obtain redress. The proclamation of peace of President Johnson, on the 2d of April, 1866, allows about four months consideration, but back of this date it is claimed compensation cannot go.

Congressman Hubbard, of West Virginia, has sent to the conscience fund of the Treasury, the extra $2,000 which Congress voted itself, saying that he voted for the increased pay because he could not otherwise vote for the bounty to the soldiers.

Brigadier General William A. Nichols, Assistant Adjutant General in the War Department, is nominated as Lieut. Gen. Sherman's Chief of Staff.

THE CHOLERA.

Nineteen New Cases in New York—New Hospital to be Opened—Twenty-nine Deaths in Cincinnati on Monday.

NEW YORK, August 7.—Only nineteen cases of cholera, including four deaths, were reported in this city yesterday. The decrease was thought to have occurred from the change of the weather, although it was supposed that a number of cases were not reported. The mortality report gives the total number of deaths for the past week, as nine hundred and forty-nine, of which two hundred and thirty-nine were from cholera.

In Brooklyn but few cases are reported and the accounts from the Islands are more encouraging.

There was a meeting of the Board of Health yesterday evening. Another cholera hospital was ordered to be opened up town. During the debate on Brooklyn, President Schultz proposed to organize a corps of nurses to attend the cholera patients at their own residences.

CINCINNATI, August 7.—Twenty-nine deaths from cholera were reported at the office of the Board of Health yesterday. Total number of deaths from cholera since August 1st, seventy-nine.

From Canada—Another Fenian Scare.

NEW YORK, August 7.—The Herald's Ottawa special says: It is confidently expected in Canada that another Fenian invasion will soon take place. The militia are kept drilling, and an attempt is being made to have Parliament prorogued in the latter part of this week, to avoid an investigation of the Fort Erie affair.

Mr. Jones complained yesterday, in Parliament, that the crown lands were badly managed, that a great revenue was lost, and settlers were driven to the United States, where more encouragement was given them.

The Tribune says that the Republican Association of the Ninth District unanimously repudiated Henry J. Raymond, its Representative in Congress.

The Courier Des Etats Unis says: There is a strange disease prevailing among the poultry in Hoboken, N. J. At night, when they go to roost, they suddenly fall on their breasts, with cries of pain, and are unable to rise. In two or three days they are incapable of holding up their necks or heads, the beak is filled with froth, the comb becomes dry, and the feathers fall off, those which remain becoming humid.

A Fenian meeting was held at the Cooper Institute last night. Stephens delivered a long speech and was warmly endorsed. Captain Condon, recently a prisoner at Dublin, spoke, denouncing the United States Consul, Mr. West, and American Minister Adams, stating that great surprise and indignation was caused in Ireland by their conduct.

New York Items.

NEW YORK, August 7.—The Coroner's jury investigating the deaths caused by the recent explosion of Harris & Co.'s Sugar Refinery, on Leonard street, returned two verdicts yesterday: three of the jurors deciding that the engineer, Philip Ryan, was responsible for the explosion, and three of them deciding that the firm of Harris & Co. were to blame for employing careless people in the establishment.

The demand of the journeymen carpenters and joiners of Brooklyn, for the privilege of quitting work at four o'clock on Saturday afternoon, has met with the acquiescence of nearly all the employers. The movement is considered a decided success.

Two young men named Charles Feargus and Patrick McCann, were engaged in an altercation in Brooklyn yesterday, when Feargus shot his antagonist through the head, inflicting a wound which was pronounced fatal by the physicians. Feargus was arrested.

James H. Stephens, the Head Centre of Fenianism, is to start on a western tour during the present week. An unusual degree of activity has prevailed among his wing of the brotherhood lately, but nothing will be furnished for publication.

FINANCE AND TRADE.

August 7, 1866.

The New York [illegible] quotations to-day were as follows: Gold, 147¾; 1881s, 109⅝; 5-20s, 108⅝; 10-40s, 99½; 7-30s, 104⅛. Cleveland & Pittsburgh R. R., 87½; Fort Wayne, 105¾; Erie, 67⅝; Western Union Telegraph, 56¾.

—It will be remembered (says the Philadelphia Press) that the funding bill introduced early in the session in the United States Senate by Mr. Sherman, for the purpose of creating a uniform consolidated debt, after being shorn of its original purpose, was finally laid over. The Secretary of the Treasury is now left free to go on under his present authority with his gradual conversion of temporary debt into 5-20s of 1865, which he or his successors will be able to consolidate into a five per cent stock after the year 1870, should the American or foreign markets then invite a lower rate of interest than the 5-20s now bear. It is believed that such an occasion will transpire much sooner than 1870. If so, the Government will be at liberty, at any [illegible] to call in and pay off in gold [illegible] old 5-20s of 1862. As to the pertinacious suggestions of our querulous cotemporaries to have the Treasury create, at this late day, after the war is ended, the country reunited and its ample revenues established, a 25 or 30 years six per cent gold-bearing stock, they are simply out of the question. The Secretary, it is said, will listen to no such advice, but will pursue his own plans.

—The accounts of the Western grain crops are of the most cheering character. The exceptions to the general report of a large yield of wheat and Indian corn are confined to a few localities in Ohio and Michigan, while the results in Illinois, Iowa, Wisconsin and Minnesota are promising beyond any season for the past three or four years. On the lines of the east and west roads, from Chicago to the Mississippi river, the wheat fields are uniformly about the heaviest in the yield of grain ever known, and the young corn looks equally well. The reports from the Kentucky and Virginia tobacco crop, thus far received by the trade in this city, show also a large and successful growth.

—The New York Times, of Monday, says:

The imports entries for the past week, including the dry goods return in our last paper, amount to $5,162,314, against the total entries of $5,481,258 same week last year. The export clearance of domestic produce amount to $3,343,670, against $1,781,971 same week last year. The export of specie amounts to $528,174, against $21,108 same week last year. The customs for the week are $2,570,983. The receipts of cotton, coastwise and by railroad are [illegible] bales. The number of emigrant passengers arrived during the week, 6188.

"The petroleum markets have undergone no material change since yesterday. Some of the producers, anticipating a sudden reaction sold their oil with difficulty at $3@3,25, but the generality of them were holding at a price far beyond the reach of ordinary shippers. The prevailing impression appears to be that there being nothing more at present than there was one month ago to produce an active demand, the rise must be attributed to a corner in the market favored by better news from Europe and the scarcity of suitable packages for storing oil.

"The tank-car operators have flooded the eastern markets with light gravity oil, for which there is little if any demand, and have driven hundreds of coopers from their business of barrel-making. Now it has been suddenly discovered that there is a large amount of oil on hand, but no barrels suitable for moving it. Hence the price of oil from 40 to 45 degrees gravity in prime barrels has advanced, showing that it is the price of barrels more than that of oil that has advanced. Large operators taking advantage of this circumstance have cornered the market to suit their own purposes. This becomes daily more apparent from the discrepancy of the telegrams and the absence of demand for foreign export. It is owing to the danger of a reaction taking place at any moment that several of the producers have offered to sell short. It was rumored this evening that a large producer had offered to sell 5000 barrels short at $3 at the wells, to be delivered within 15 days at his option, and that he failed to effect the sale. This shows the prevailing want of confidence in the present rise being maintained."

PITTSBURGH MARKETS.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE,
TUESDAY, August 7, 1866.

The produce market continues dull and devoid of animation, and as the demand for the leading commodities is very much restricted, we have but few round lot operations to report. In values there have been no remarkable changes one way or the other.

ASHES—Steady with a moderate demand but unchanged. Sales of 20 tons common Soda at 6; 12 tons Refined ditto at 6½; and 6 tons Pearls at 15.

GRAIN—Sale of 2 cars Ohio Wheat, to arrive, at $2,90; and about 400 bush Northwestern, in elevator, in two different lots, at $2,35. Oats in better demand, and prime white held at an advance, being quoted at 50@55; sales of 300 bush No. 1 Chicago, in elevator, at 45. Corn is quiet and nominal at 70@75. Sales of Western Rye at 90. Nothing doing in Barley.

FLOUR—Is reported steady with a moderate local demand but unchanged. Spring Wheat is selling at $10 to $10,25—choice brands at 10,50—half Spring and half Winter at $11 to 11,50, and Winter Wheat at $12 to 12,50. Sale of 10 bbls Winter Wheat, in one lot, at $12,25. Sale of 35 bbls Cornmeal, a little damaged, at $2,75 per bbl; 10 bbls choice kiln dried at $4,25; and 20 bbls Rye Flour at $6,75.

PROVISIONS—Bacon is firm with a fair jobbing demand but unchanged; 17½ to 17¾ for Shoulders; 19½@20 for Ribbed Sides; 23 for Plain Hams, and 25½@26 for Sugar Cured. Lard is quiet but held firmly at 21@22 for prime kettle rendered. Small sales of Mess Pork reported at $33,50.

MILL FEED—Is firm, with a good demand, and prices are looking up. Sale of 1 car Bran at $16,50 per ton, and 1 car prime white Middlings at $1,70 per cwt.

APPLES—The market is very poorly supplied, and especially is this the case in regard to prime ripe Apples, which sell readily at $5 to $6 per bbl.

EGGS—Continue dull, with a drooping tendency. Sales being reported to-day at 18 to 20—mostly at 20.

CHEESE—Is steady but in good supply. We quote at 14 to 15 for Western Reserve, 16@17 for Hamburg, and 20@21 for Goshen.

OIL—No. 1 Lard quoted at $1,75.

PIG LEAD—200 pigs sold at 15.

FLAXSEED—Is wanted at $3.

PITTSBURGH PETROLEUM MARKET.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE,
TUESDAY, August 7, 1866.

CRUDE—There is still considerable inquiry for Crude, on the spot as well as to arrive, but otherwise the market is quiet, while prices have undergone no change. We can report a sale of one bulk boat supposed to contain about one thousand barrels, on the spot, at 15½, and one thousand barrels, to arrive, at 15. Yesterday, there was a sale of seventeen hundred barrels to arrive on the first water, at 15. The stock of Crude in this market in the hands of regular dealers is very much reduced at present, and the quantity in the hands of speculators is not as large as generally supposed. We have no advices from Oil City to-day, but we presume there has been no essential change, otherwise we would, in all probability, have heard something of it. There are some parties desirous of selling to arrive on the first water at 15c, but apparently, there were no buyers at that figure to-day—at least we were unable to hear of any. Some of our refiners who are sold ahead pretty largely, and have not a sufficient amount of Crude to cover their contracts, seem willing to pay at 15, provided they can have it delivered at a specified time, but sellers cannot see it in that light.

REFINED—The market for bonded oil was remarkably quiet to-day, owing to rather unfavorable advices from the east, and for future delivery, that is for October, November and December, concessions would have had to have been made in order to effect sales. For example, it is said that there were offers to sell for November at 45, but 44½ was the best bid that could be obtained, and October cannot be quoted above 44½. We can report a sale of 500 bbls for August delivery in Philadelphia, "Aladdin" brand, at 44, and 500 bbls "Nonpareil", for same delivery, at same price. The demand at present seems to be confined mostly to August, and we are cognizant of other offers to buy at 45½. There was no movement in free oil to-day.

ARRIVALS—We have but a single arrival of oil reported to-day, 547 bbls for Fisher & Bro.

ALLEGHENY CATTLE MARKET.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE,
TUESDAY, August 7, 1866.

CATTLE.

The receipts of cattle were again fair this week reaching, as nearly as we could ascertain about eight hundred head, and with a demand equal to the supply the market ruled steady, and prices were very well sustained. The butchers bought rather sparingly, but Barney Grey was again in attendance and reduced the number on sale considerably, taking several of the best droves in market, and this, as a matter of course, had a tendency to produce a little stronger feeling on the part of holders. Good to prime cattle sold at from 7 to 8½, and extra may be quoted at 8¾ to 9. Stock Cattle, of which the offerings have been comparatively light so far this season, are selling at from at 5¼ to 6½, according to condition.

SHEEP AND LAMBS.

There is a continued fair local demand for this class of stock, but as compared with last week, prices have undergone no essential change. Common to strictly prime fat mutton sheep sold all the way from 4½ to 6½ cts, gross, and these appear to be regarded as the extremes of the market. Lambs sold at from $2 to $3½ per head.

MARKETS BY TELEGRAPH.

New York Stock and Money Market.

NEW YORK, August 7.

Money market is without any perceptible change, and the supply is still in excess of the demand. Call loans range from 4 to 5 per cent; prime discounts are from 5½ to 6½ per cent. The general trade of the city remains dull, and the volume of business has not increased this week as yet. There are a number of early buyers here but they purchase very cautiously. In the department of dry goods there is a steady accumulation of stocks and prices are rather weak as a general thing. The gold market left off firmly at 147¾@148. Foreign Exchange is firm. The Government securities were less active this afternoon, and the market closed up firmly at our quotations. Coupons 1881 109⅝@110. 5-20s do 1865, 107⅞@108¼. 10-40 coupons, 99⅛@99¼. July 7-30's 104⅛@104¼.

The stock market, at the last open board, was stronger, and the highest prices of the day were made. There was an increased disposition to buy towards the close of the day. The upward movement in Rock Island turned the whole market. Stocks are firmly held, and any little decline brings in fresh buyers. Petroleum and Mining stocks were very dull. Mining Stock—Consolidated Gregory Gold, 19,50; Walkill, 1,30, American Flag, 1,10. Petroleum Stocks—United States, 8,00; Fort National, 5c.

Gold closed at 147¾. Ohio and Mississippi certificates, 30; Quicksilver, 49; Western Union Telegraph, 56⅞; New York Central, 104⅛; Erie, 67⅝; Reading 111⅛; Michigan Southern, 84¼; Cleveland and Pittsburgh, 87⅝; Catawissa, 30; Cleveland and Toledo, 118⅝; Chicago and Rock Island, 106⅞; Chicago and Northwestern, 36; Chicago and Northwestern preferred, 67; Pittsburgh, Fort Wayne and Chicago not [illegible].

Commercial's money article says: The feature in the market to-day was the scarcity of gold, and while the advance in the price is not important, it is very firmly held and somewhat higher rates are paid in borrowed transactions. The change of tone in gold has had a tendency to make foreign exchange duller, and we hear of very little doing this morning. There is no change of movement of matters on call; the rate remains nominally 5 per cent, but the exceptions down as low as 4 per cent, form an important feature in the transactions. Of paper, there is little offering. The business in stocks was not large, but the general tone of the market was more cheerful and with some exceptions, prices ruled high. Of Governments, the sales were more important, prices showing little variation from yesterday in State stocks. Little was done in Railroad. Chicago & Rock Island showed most activity, and there was an advance to 105⅞@105¾, beyond last evening's prices. New York Central advanced ⅛c on a trifling business, and most other descriptions were ⅛@¼c higher.

The Post's money article says: The Gold market is steady, but with less disposition to cover short contracts than the scarcity of coin for delivery led many to suppose there would be. From 1-64 per day is paid for loans. Money continues easy, at 3@4 per cent on Government collaterals, and 4@5 on railway shares. First class commercial paper is 5@6 per cent. The Stock market opened firm, with an advance. Government securities are strong. At 1:35 P. M., the quotations were: New York Central, 104⅛; Erie, 68; Hudson River, 121; Reading, 111; Michigan Central, 108; Illinois Central, 121; Toledo, 116.

New York Cattle Market.

NEW YORK, Aug. 7.—The current prices for the week at all the markets are as follows: BEEF CATTLE—First quality, per head, $17,50@18,50; fair to good, $15@17; common, $14@15; inferior, $12@14.

COWS AND CALVES—Extra, per head, $100@120; first quality, $75@85; ordinary, $65@75; common, $50@60; inferior, $30@45.

VEAL CALVES—First quality, per pound, 10@12c; ordinary, 9@10c; common, 8@9c; inferior, 7@8c.

SHEEP AND LAMBS—Extra, per head, $7@8,50; prime quality, $6@7; ordinary, $5@6; common, $4@4,50; inferior, $3,50@4.

SWINE—Heavy corn-fed, per pound, 12½@12¾; light and medium, 12@12½.

The market for Beef Cattle was dull and prices ruled firm at ½c, for a poor, owing to the heavy receipts for the week. There were only about 250 head on sale at Allerton's New National Yards, but between 5,000 and 4,000 head were sold during the week at the other places, mainly at Bergen's. The range of prices was from 12 to 18c, but the bulk of the offerings were sold between 15@17½c. Sheep and Lambs heavy and lower. The range per head was about the same, from $1 to $8,50. Hogs were active and decidedly higher, varying from 12¼ to 12¾c.

The receipts of all stocks at all the yards, for the week and last week, were as follows: Beeves, 6,190; Cows, 65; Veal Calves, 1,632; Sheep and Lambs, 20,197; Swine, 6,774. Total last week—Beeves, 5,281; Cows, 148; Veal Calves, 1,071; Sheep and Lambs, 16,119; Swine, 7,4[illegible].

Butter

CHICAGO, August 4.—Received 29,725 lbs; shipped 10,880 lbs. The market is quiet. Speculators are operating to some extent, but apparently with little confidence. Shippers are doing but little, the eastern markets not offering sufficient inducements to warrant purchases for shipment. To-day a large shipper bought 200 kegs of one firm at 26c. There is a steady demand from local customers for the better grades, and under a moderate supply the market for such rules steady. Common descriptions are neglected and a shade easier. Sales to-day include 200 kegs prime at 26c; 600 lbs good, in jars, at 25c; 5 firkins prime at 27c; 5 do at 26c.

CINCINNATI, August 4.—The arrivals are increasing, and the demand so far has been sufficient to absorb the receipts, and prices are maintained, though any material increase in the supply would cause prices to give way. The local demand is only moderate, and shippers are not in the market to any extent. We quote prime to choice Central Ohio at 24@26c, and the lower grades 20@23c. Some few lots of Western Reserve are coming forward, and sales of the best grades were made at 31@32c.

RIVER NEWS

The weather yesterday was cloudy and cool, with an occasional sprinkling of rain. At the main landing business is entirely suspended, and will remain so until there is a rise in the river.

The steamer Spray was sold on Monday afternoon by Marshal Murdock, in pursuance of an order of court. The boat was purchased by Captain McDonald, on behalf of the owners, for $[illegible]. The boat is nearly new, has been out about three seasons, and is worth probably $20,000. We understand that a number of persons who intended bidding on the boat, expected that the sale would take place on the wharf, where the boat is lying, and that while they were waiting there the boat was sold.

The R. C. Gray left St. Louis for Pittsburgh on Saturday last, and the Kenton was advertised to follow on Monday.

The towboat V. F. Wilson bound from Louisville to Pittsburgh, is laid up above Sunfish on the Virginia side.

The St. Louis Republican, alluding to the desertion of the crew of the A. G. Blackford at St. Paul, by which the boat had to return to that port without freight, wants steamboat Captains to organize for their protection. A Steamboat Captains' Association would be a good thing, and if a convention was called it would soon be accomplished.

The remedy for crews jumping is to take out shipping papers, similar to sea-going vessels. Then the "jumping" can be checked, the wages forfeited, and the jumping crew punished for mutiny. The steamboat Captains and owners should have that plank in their platform.

Owing to the difficulty in making regular connections, the Gallatin, of the Union Line of Brownsville packets, will hereafter suspend [illegible] and will confine her operations to evening trips, leaving, as heretofore, promptly at five o'clock, intersecting the Fayette at Lock No. 2, reshipping on that boat, and returning to this city the same evening between the hours of eight and ten o'clock. As soon as the locks are repaired the morning packet will run as formerly.

The Chieftain, of the new line, leaves at five o'clock every evening for Lock No. 2, connecting there with the Elector for Brownsville and Geneva.

Says Sunday's Louisville Democrat:

Yesterday morning the Jno. T. McCombs brought to this city a passenger named Terrel who had some tobacco on board. Somewhere between Salt river and Portland, Terrel, who it appears had the "swats reamin' in his noddle," got up out of his berth, walked out upon the guard, slid down a stancheon some distance and hung to it, with about a foot of each leg hanging down in the water. Presently he climbed up, went to the bar, took a "toddy" and went back to bed. All this was done while the boat was running, and was witnessed by several of the cabin. When asked about it he said, "he was often caught walking about in his night clothes, but he 'be dod durned' if he could ever catch himself at it."

PRO BO NO PUBLICO.

Yet they say 'tis a heinous crime the way business is conducted. Some say it is murdering the trade. Others say it is against his own interests. We don't believe it. Let us see what the true state of affairs is. The truth is this: That there is a new establishment, neatly fitted up, at No. 87 Market street, Pittsburgh, over which W. G. MAHAFFEY presides, and in which boots and shoes are sold at [illegible] while I give you the prices of a few articles. Mens [illegible] other articles at, and corresponding low. Ladies' Congress Lasting gaiters selling at $1.50. Ladies' Sewed McKeon Boots at $2.00. Men's Congress Lasting Gaiters at $2.00. Children's Slippers at 50. Children's Morocco Shoes at 40c. A large lot of gents' prime calf balmorals, and a splendid lot received and selling exceedingly low. In addition to this he keeps any article in the boot or shoe line and manufactures to order Ladies congress lasting gaiter, morocco boot, [illegible] and gentlemen's fine French calf boots [illegible] embroidered slippers. I likewise keep first class calf boots made to order $1.50 less than any other first class house in the city. Those wishing to fit the feet, which we would advise every man to have of his own. Ladies' and gents' fancy cloth slipper uppers, silk embroidered, &c. Where is the crime. If in selling low, we plead guilty, and by selling low we expect to promote our own interests, and make quick sales and money of them. Inviting you to call and see our stock, we leave the subject with you.

THE NEW

Spring and Summer Medicine.

FLUID EXTRACT

SARSAPARILLA,

COMBINED WITH

Iodide of Lime,

PREPARED FOR

G. W. FETTES, BOSTON,

BY

James R. Nichols & Co.,

MANUFACTURING CHEMISTS,

MANUFACTURERS OF THE

ELIXIR PERUVIAN BARK

WITH

Protoxide of Iron,

Which has become so favorably known as a

Tonic and Restorative,

By Physicians and Invalids in all parts of the country.

The new preparation, "SARSAPARILLA IN A COMBINATION WITH IODIDE OF LIME," presents one of the most prompt alterative agents in a form capable of exerting full action upon the system, and this in minute and pleasant doses. It is conceded that the alterative, resolvent, or tonic effects of Iodine, are exerted most decidedly when associated with other alteratives, in combination; and the Sarsaparilla seems to fulfil perfectly all the favorable requisitions.

The first effect usually observed when "SARSAPARILLA WITH IODIDE OF LIME" is taken, is an increase of appetite, showing that it has tonic properties of a marked character. Its alterative effects are manifest in its ready combination with the blood and tissues. Pale, scrofulous women and children improve rapidly under its use, and the vital functions assume a healthy condition.

It is admirably adapted to a large number of chronic or acute affections peculiar to children. It is suited to them, both by the mildness and efficiency of Medicinal effect and the pleasant, attractive form of the remedy. It may be given for a long period where constitutional influences are desired, and no repugnance, or disinclination to the syrup, encountered. In White Swellings, Hip-joint Disease, and Distortions of the Spine, it should be given persistently, in moderate doses, until relief is obtained.

The accumulation of morbid matters in the system seems to become manifest and very troublesome. Lassitude, Headache, Boils, Costiveness, Loss of Appetite, Pains in the Joints, Indigestion, etc., are very common. Nothing ever devised is better adapted to exterminate or drive off these afflictions than this new combination of SARSAPARILLA WITH IODIDE OF LIME.

No preparation like it, or which approximates to it as an

has ever before been placed within the reach of invalids. Indeed, it is an entirely NEW and SCIENTIFIC combination, in no respect resembling anything hitherto employed.

The opinion of medical men concerning it, the description of its chemical character, the curative value, manner of use, etc., are given in a circular, which can be had at the store of any and all first-class Druggists.
